

Tempest – seat for connoisseurs.

The Tempest by Iker, Polish producer is a furniture for connoisseurs, for people who enjoy being surrounded by exquisite things and who value the combination of comfort and design inspired by the 20th century modernism.

Marek Gawlik created the Tempest collection for elegant and modern living interiors, offices and public spaces. A seat's geometry block is set softly in a frame made of stainless steel. It presents best in leather or plain fabric covering. Cubist forms of furniture covered in chrome frame reminds of classical Le Corbusier's projects - in contemporary, refreshed edition.

Marek Gawlik

Associated with Iker from the day it was established. The company's focus on creating its own unique furniture style allowed him for unhindered approach to design and putting form and function before structure. It was him who prepared complete project documentation and who carefully monitored making prototypes, having in this way full control over the entire production process and its final results.
